Dear [REDACTED]

Welcome home! I hope you had wonderful holiday time and an enjoyable time in Sweden for EPATH. I'm sorry about your computer and hope you will be able to retrieve everything!

I'm happy to enclose with this email, the documents in the Endocrine Society (ES) toolkit. They include:

1. Position Statement jointly written by members of both the ES and the Pediatric Endocrine Society (PES)--Individual names of the authors are not included on this document, but I was one of the authors--published December, 2020.
2. Press Release (with PES) re impact of discriminatory policies on care of transgender/ gender diverse (TGD) individuals--December, 2020.
3. Policy Perspective re anti-trans youth legislation--published as a joint effort of ES and PES--on-line in J Clin Endocrinol Metab --December, 2020.
4. Transgender Health "Fact Sheet"--including recommendations to improve care.
5. Transgender Health "Minors Fact Sheet"--including recommendations to improve care--I and several other members of WPATH were co-authors on this document, though no authors names appear on the document.
6. Guidance on Transgender Advocacy at the State Level (U.S.)--published on-line --February, 2021.
7. Press Release--condemning efforts to block access to medical care for TGD youth--published on-line April, 2021.
8. ES Clinical Practice Guideline (on which WPATH is co-sponsor), published in J Clin Endocrinol Metab --2017.

I have also included a PES Position Statement opposing bills that harm TGD youth--published on-line, April, 2021.

I think we should also include the recent WPATH Position Statement co-sponsored by the regional PATHs world-wide as well as our recent editorial in IJT, primarily in response to Bell v. Tavistock, and, most importantly, SOC 8 as soon as it's ready.

At the risk of self-promotion (not my intention!!), we could also consider including a review I published last week on-line in Nature Reviews Endocrinology, in which I did my best to provide a balanced summary of published evidence supporting the gender-affirming model of care for TGD youth, in which I also focus on challenges to care, including anti-trans youth legislation in the U.K. and in the U.S. I have included a PDF of this review if you'd like to take a look.

Please also let me know your thoughts on [REDACTED] recommendation that we have additional members on our task force. Please see last paragraph from my email to you on July 27 (see below), where I made some specific suggestions. Please also note [REDACTED] suggestions of potential task force members in the next to last paragraph in my email, below, from July 27.

In the mean-time, perhaps we could address with [REDACTED] if we can soon have a section on the WPATH website to serve as our "toolkit" to assist WPATH members in their advocacy efforts to oppose legislation (or pending legislation) in their respective countries. For the ES (only) , ES/PES (jointly written) , and PES (only) documents, since I have close contacts at both ES and PES, I can ask if we can include their documents as PDFs on the WPATH website. We can also include the other documents I mentioned above.

Thanks and best wishes,

Dear [REDACTED]

I was on holiday and in Sweden for the conference; my laptop got coffee spilled over, so I couldn't do much!

Now back in Amsterdam; do you have the documents in the toolkit available for me? If they are good, I agree we can use them for the WPATH as well.

The SOC 8 will be the ultimate, hopefully it will be finished in not too long time!

Dear [REDACTED]

I know you will be returning from holiday at the beginning of August. I hope you had some nice, relaxing time!

In terms of the Endocrine Society "toolkit" (I didn't personally make it but was involved in discussions about what would be contained), please see the email I sent to you on June 17.

Here's a section from that email:

The toolkit was developed by the Endocrine Society (ES) to assist ES members in dealing with their local legislatures to challenge anti-trans youth legislation. The ES toolkit included, most importantly, the ES Clinical Practice Guideline (CPG) for Gender Incongruence/ Gender Dysphoria (on which WPATH is an official co-sponsor), an updated "Position Statement" and published "Policy Perspective", and some press releases.

Here's another paragraph from my email to you on 6/17:

My sense is that the centerpiece of such a WPATH toolkit would be the upcoming SOC8. The toolkit could also include our recently published guest editorial related to the Bell v. Tavistock case, as well as recent WPATH position statements/press releases. We could also consider including the ES CPG, since, as noted, WPATH is listed as an official co-sponsor. I imagine we could consider this "toolkit" as an evolving packet, easily available on the WPATH website, where links to all the relevant components of the toolkit are listed in one place. Unless I'm missing something from Walter, this may not be too complicated.

[REDACTED] agreed with this approach. Here are sections from his email to us on 6/18:

And yes, there is no point re-inventing the wheel. Good to include robust existing work/info into the Tool Kit.

I'll leave it to you and [REDACTED] to choose another 3-6 members for your Task Force: including different disciplines such as surgery, psychology, law as well as diverse representation from our membership. Thinking about colleagues like [REDACTED] and there will be many many other very suitable candidates.

Please let me know your thoughts on how many members we should include in the task force, and if you have any particular individuals in mind. Given the focus of the toolkit is to provide resources to members in their home countries to assist them in combatting governmental attempts to stop gender-affirming medical care for adolescents, I would think that we should include 1-2 other medical experts (e.g. [REDACTED]), another 1-2 mental health experts (perhaps [REDACTED] could be one?) and a legal and an ethics expert--perhaps we could ask [REDACTED]

Thanks and best wishes,

Thank you for the invitation to co-chair this initiative. I had just this week heard from [REDACTED] that the ES was working on a statement and was indeed wondering if we needed to do something apart from the statement we already made last December. I think by writing that statement and editorial, we have done important preparing work. Hard for me to judge the amount of work, but [REDACTED] if you can lead me a little in this, I think I could co-chair this with you.

Please see email, below, which I recently received from [REDACTED] (cc'd here), asking me to co-chair a WPATH Task Force with the goal of developing a "toolkit" similar to one that I shared with him that was developed by the Endocrine Society (ES) to assist ES members in dealing with their local legislatures to challenge anti-trans youth legislation. The ES toolkit included, most importantly, the ES Clinical Practice Guideline (CPG) for Gender Incongruence/ Gender Dysphoria (on which WPATH is an official co-sponsor), an updated "Position Statement" and published "Policy Perspective", and some press releases.

I have agreed to co-chair this Task Force, and as [REDACTED] asked me to recommend a European colleague as co-Chair, I thought it would be important that this person be a mental health expert and immediately thought of you. Please let me know if you are willing to serve as co-Chair, and then we can discuss [REDACTED] suggestion about adding another 3-6 members to this Task Force.

Dear [REDACTED]

I hope this e-mail finds you well!

On behalf of the EC I would like to invite you to consider co-chairing a WPATH Task Force with the purpose of developing a Toolkit (similar to the one which you kindly shared with us a few weeks ago).

We have had a number of discussions about this within the EC and we think it is timely and important that WPATH develops such a toolkit for all the obvious reasons.

Our thoughts are to have you chair this Task Force together with an European colleague and subsequently invite another 3-6 Task Force members to start.

We would - of course - dedicate the necessary resources too to get the job done.

I also think it is important that you feel comfortable with an European colleague co-chairing and hence, although we can think of various potential candidates, your choice will be paramount (assuming you say yes to the task at hand).

Happy to discuss any further issues/questions etcetera via a Zoom/FT meeting if you prefer.

Looking forward to hearing from you,

With warm wishes and stay safe,

Yes, WPATH reputation is on the line for sure. It is abundantly clear to me when I go to court on behalf of TGD individuals to secure access to medically necessary health care and other human/civil rights, as I will be doing in a class action lawsuit deposition in 2 weeks in NC. The wording of our section for Version 7 has been critical to our successes, and I hope the same will hold for Version 8. The rights gained can also be lost, as we have seen over the past few years.

Hopefully this feedback will help you in your next draft. We have sent your chapter to reference checkers with the additional request to see if there are any others that might be relevant.

Hi [REDACTED]

I am pleased to hear the medical necessity statement is being updated (as the 2016 sounds a bit outdated and some of the language is now obsolete...) and I am happy to help with this too, and ideally tweak it, so it applies globally rather than specifically to the US.

Also, I am happy to publish this medical necessity statement separately in IJTH - that will take only a few weeks and then it can be added to the SOC8 as an appendix, together with other important (published statements), such as the gender identity recognition statement, etcetera.

I am just throwing this out here, so that [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] can decide, whether they want to incorporate these WPATH statements in the SOC8.

With warm wishes,

'Population Health Research' is a near synonym for 'Public Health Research', but this chapter is exclusively about numbers. Estimated numbers.

Hello [REDACTED]

I do agree in very many cases. However, I do a fair bit of forensic and governmental work and unfortunately they are not known for understanding nuance (or indeed science!). I worry using estimates will be a bit like the theory of evolution being considered to be 'just a theory' and so dismissed. Judges and law-makers will dismiss estimates in a way in which they will not research, even though we understand that - while there are common understandings of these words - the scientific meanings of these words are more nuanced.

My hope with these SoC is that they land in such a way as to have serious effect in the law and policy settings that have affected us so much recently; even if the wording isn't quite correct for people who have the background you and I have.

Merriam-Webster gives:

Full Definition of estimate (Entry 1 of 2)

b: to determine roughly the size, extent, or nature of c: to produce a statement of the approximate cost of

Hello Everyone,

Thank you all for your support of our dissemination efforts.

We did spend time reflecting on how to discuss the issue of age for genital surgery as we understand and agree with the need to tailor to the individual. After consultation with those involved in the Alabama lawsuit, the consensus appeared to be that quoting the standards of care and remaining as close to this as possible would be most helpful for the case at this time.

It sounded like the report was being shared with USPATH board for their approval prior to any steps being taken. Is there an update? If there are any questions we can address and/or other ways that we can be helpful please let me know and I can discuss with the team.

Best,

Subject: RE: Request to help disseminate report critiquing science behind Texas and Alabama measures to criminalizing care

Dear [REDACTED] – I agree with your comments, and we can certainly pass this along to the USPATH Board for their OK to support and disseminate. I will work with you offline to get this out to the board for an electronic approval to support and disseminate.

Dear [REDACTED] – Further to your previous communications with [REDACTED] WPATH's Executive Committee has met today and is happy to endorse your Report. We do want to make a caveat though, which is that although the responses are correct from an academic point of view, from a clinical point of view gender affirming surgeries (genital and otherwise) are currently taking place for TGD people under the age of 18 years tailored to the needs of the individual (in the US, Europe, and elsewhere). We believe it is important to stress this reality. Often, real-life clinical practice precedes the publication of evidence-based guidelines and research data.

Once we have the approval vote from USPATH Board, we can send via eblast to our database and post on the website.

Hi Walter, Marci, Vin, and ██████████

I just got off a very productive call with Rachel Levine. The failure of WPATH to be ready with SOC 8 is proving a barrier to optimal policy progress and she was eager to learn when SOC 8 might be published.

My view is that this should be taken as a charge from the United States government to do what is required to complete the project immediately.

I am happy to have a quick call to discuss nuance if that would be helpful. And she would be happy to speak as well if that might move things along.

Hello friends-

The chapter is excellent. I have two general comments:

1. I am concerned about language such as "insufficient evidence," "limited data," etc...I say this from the perspective of current legal challenges in the US. Groups in the US are trying to claim that gender-affirming interventions are experimental and should only be performed under research protocols (this is based on two recent federal cases in which I am an expert witness). In addition, these groups already assert that research in this field is low quality (ie small series, retrospective, no controls, etc...). My specific concern is that this type of language (insufficient evidence, limited data, etc...) will empower these groups and reinforce their erroneous assertions
2. I am wondering if we should be less specific about listing particular procedures. My concern is that if we try to list every procedure, we will inevitably either leave some procedures out (whether inadvertently or as a result of future technical innovations, evolution of thought, etc...). Once again, thinking within the framework of the current US legal system, if we leave a procedure out, that may allow insurance companies to deny coverage (ie...this procedure isn't listed in SOC 8).

Just my thoughts...outstanding work from the group!

Dear fellow authors,

This email is a last reminder for the deadline of tomorrow – reason why we used all emails beside the nonbinary group mail – as we hope you receive this well.

Many of you have already contributed to the online V2 text, thank you so much, we think it's getting great. Please note that tomorrow at 7 pm CEST we'll take the document down, so we can finalize the editing, insert all references in the requested style etc. before sending it in to the SOC8 leaders. If there are no objections in the document for the suggestions made, we'll accept all changes as they are.

We hope this second draft of our chapter will pass without much further work, we expect feedback from the SOC8 leaders real soon, and the final deadline will be 17/9 as you can see here in the time tracking sheet. Almost there!

Kind regards
Joz & Walter

Onderwerp: Update & further steps

Dear SOC8 GNB group,

We had a short meeting tonight to discuss the way forward, given the strict deadline next week (Sept 3rd). All in all it is not that much work, but we do need you.

To keep track of our work we have:

1. made a folder in our google drive with the comments we received on the previous version (V1): <https://drive.google.com/drive/folders/1MYs0qhXlrjZq7a3l-0N8uKbY3J5uJu4o?usp=sharing>

2. Made a folder with the feedback from the SOC8 chairs and our clean as well original reworked document:
<https://drive.google.com/drive/folders/1FbMaI2Vf7Hm1gibNuN52T26AdyY3baVE?usp=sharing>
3. Uploaded the 2nd version: We moved the new text (V2) (with already comments from Leighton) in the drive:
https://docs.google.com/document/d/1WnTB5vyFMtwHmZhayEmAOQpV4odHSZ_l/edit?usp=sharing&oid=115914970643802157130&rtpof=true&sd=true This is the new version we invite you all to work in. So the previous folders are just for your archive.

I promised to check / double check that previous suggestions and/or comments (in folder V1) will be inserted in the new text V2.

You are all invited to rework this V2 text. When doing so please:

- Do not take the doc from the drive, so don't download a personal copy since we will all be working in the same doc.
- Make sure you use the setting of making suggestions: when opening the link or the doc in the drive, you can see a pen in your upper right corner (see picture below), if you click on it you see 3 options: choose the 2nd labeled "making suggestions" (or sth alike, mine is in Dutch). The third gives you an idea on how the clean version would look like, the first enables you to make direct changes but they cannot be seen by others.) Your pen should be in green with a line underneath as you can see in this image:

Please do insert newer literature you came across in the last year or so, only published materials can be added in the references. Just link the article in the comments and we can make sure it gets inserted in endnote before sending in.

I will close the doc on Friday next week so we have the weekend to do the last editing & putting all references as they should be.

Thanks a lot for all your efforts, they are highly appreciated!

Kind regards

Walter & Joz

I also share tremendous worries, especially as the midterm elections in the US are starting to look grim. I have no idea if we have reached out to the American Psychological Association (APA) for endorsement as well- anyone know and I can I help in this area?

Let us give all the support you need to work with that organization. But obviously we need you to lead the way.

It is harder to mandate that system in a fragmented health care system - but certainly some systems, hospitals, states (many) will adopt that approach.

This is so devastating. I'm so fearful that this is the direction we are going to find ourselves in here in the U.S. if we aren't careful every step of the way. It is so crucial that we can secure mainstream professional associations endorsement of the SOC8 as soon as possible. I just got back from AACAP where I had spontaneous introductions with people in high level positions (including the President and CEO of AAP and President of AACAP), and really do hope there's a possibility of securing those endorsements.

As I have stated on a number of occasions, particularly in the EC meetings, since the Bell vs Tavistock judiciary ruling, the National Health Service (NHS) has stopped providing any gender affirming medical treatment (hormones and surgery) for people under the age of 18.

Technically, adult trans health services, like ours in Nottingham, and London, etcetera, can prescribe blockers and hormones for young people aged 17 and older, but the waiting list now exceeds 2 years or more for all transgender health clinics, so in reality ALL young people do not have access to care in England. How many people are we talking about? Probably thousands.....

[REDACTED] is supposed to head a team commissioned by NHS England (which finances all secondary care) looking at all the Tavistock referrals that are waiting for an appointment. My understanding is that there are a couple of thousand referrals.....

So, the situation is more than dire for young trans people and their families in the UK.

Well I read this as very much in keeping with the principles of WPATH SOC without acknowledgement and while distribution of care regionally is a good idea - staffing and having this restricted to a research protocol - goes in the direction of Sweden. While this will insure good outcome studies - I fear that most children and adolescents will go untreated. And if they go outside of the protocol, they will not be given service forcing people into the underground.

I would say that this will have a chilling effect across the world.

Maybe I am not reading this exactly but that is my read.

Will WPATH, AAP, Endocrine Society (our few endorsers) have a response?
